DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in-

(1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effect under this subsection of a national application published under section 122(b) only if the international application designating the United States was published under Article 21(2)(a) of such treaty in the English language; or

(2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that a patent shall not be deemed filed in the United States for the purposes of this subsection based on the filing of an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a).

Claims 1-2 and 6-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Moody et al (6,419,578).

Regarding claims 1-2 and 6-8, Moody teaches a gaming machine controlled by a processor in response to a wager that comprises a display including a video portion and a non-video portion; and a unitary touch screen overlapping both the video portion and the non-video portion, said video portion including player-selectable first indicia selectable via the touch screen and said non-video portion including player-selectable second indicia selectable via said touch screen (Fig. 1, #20, #47, 326, and #28; col. 3, lines 23-32).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 3-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Moody et al.

Regarding claims 3-5, Moody teaches all the limitations of the claims, Moody is silent regarding the features of the non-video portion containing artwork and the illumination of lights behind the artwork to indicate active indicia. The examiner takes official notice that it is well known in gaming machines to include art work that exhibits the name and characters that are used in the gaming. Further it is well known in the art to illuminate buttons and indicia in slot video machines. It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to employ these features in Moody to entice the player to begin and continue play of the gaming machine. This increases the player's enthusiasm for playing the game.

Pertinent Prior Art

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Barrie, Walker et al, Hughs-Baird et al, Mcnabola, De Keller and Franchi teach gaming machines with touch screen inputs.
